Detail Report on Celebration of 'GEOGRAPHY DAY'

The students and teachers of Kankavli College, Kankavli celebrated Geography Day on January 14, 2021 to create an awareness for the need to protect the environment, causes of pollution and other factors that are affecting the environment. It is also the Birth Anniversary of noted Indian author, geographer, educationist and teacher Chandrashekhar Dhundiraj Deshpande (14 January 1912 – 14 November 1999), popularly known as C. D. Deshpande.

He was an academic innovator; he worked on many fronts to improve the status of Geography as an independent science and discipline in India. For this purpose, he gathered ideas from the principal centers of geographical teaching and research in the United Kingdom. Deshpande made vigorous efforts for the teaching of geography in schools and colleges in Maharashtra. He laid particular stress on the nature of the subject. Deshpande's own personal efforts were also crucial in the establishment of an independent department of geography at the University of Bombay. He raised the question of founding an All-India geographical Organization, and efforts in that direction led to the establishment of the National Association of Geographers, India.

In the Hindu religion, every month is divided into two parts, the first is Krishna Paksha "Dark half of the month" and the second is Shukla Paksha "Brighter half of the month". Similarly, each year is divided into two parts, first Uttarayan and second Dakshinayan. These two are considered together as a year. On the day of Makar Sankranti, due to the rotation of the earth, there is a slight change in the direction of the sun. Hence this period is called Uttarayan.

Sometimes it is celebrated a day earlier or later i.e. on January 13 or 15. But this is rarely seen. Makar Sankranti is related to the geography of the earth and the position of the sun. Whenever, the Sun crosses the Tropic of Capricorn. That day is only on January 14, and that is why this day is celebrated as the festival of Makar Sankranti.

In different parts of India Makar Sankranti is celebrated in different ways. Like, in Andhra Pradesh, Kerala and Karnataka, it is called Sankranti. And in Tamil Nadu, it is celebrated as Pongal festival. At this time, a new crop is welcomed in Punjab, and Haryana and Lohri festival is celebrated. While in Assam this festival is called Bihu and celebrated with joy and gladness.

Celebrations were held on the occasion of 'Geography Day's in Kanakvli College, Kankavli organized by Department of Geography. Webinar was organized as part of celebration. Dr.R.B.Chougule was the chairperson of the webinar.

Mr.G.S.Ubale was invited as resource person for this webinar. He gave lecture on the topic of “Introduction of GIS, Remote Sensing and Career Opportunities in Geography”.

Dr.S.N.Patil, HOD, Geography, also guided students on the important of Geography Day.

This webinar was conducted on online platform Google Meet. The webinar started at 10:00 a.m. and continued till 11:00 a.m. 113 students and teachers from college joined this webinar.
